Discussion summary:

As a team, we discuss our code's Model, View, and Controller whether there if there is something wrong and what are the right ones. We used a whiteboard to reinforce our understanding about the MVC application. This helped us be on the same page. We tried to implement and figure out an enum with a constant binded to it. We discussed again what needs to be completed for deliverable 3. We also talked about the next check-ins. We agreed to use the "my" and "the" for our classes' fields and parameters to be consistent and to have a better readability. We also edited the task matrix for last week and this week.
